

Terrance Shannon – vs Kansas City 11/11/2022

Terrance is a lefty and the secondary ball handler for the Illini. He loves to play on the wing and will get to the rim whether it's from a cut or if he is putting the ball on the floor. He is a highflyer and makes sure he gets his shots. If he is dunking the ball or laying the ball up, he is going to make his way to the free throw line. Eventually, as the defense crashes on his drive he will look to the corner or wing to find an open teammate and get his assist.

Defensively if he makes a mistake on the offensive side of the ball he is going to sprint back and try to make up for it on the other end of the ball. Illinois plays man-to-man defense and plays hard-nosed basketball, Shannon fights through screens and switches when his teammate gets hit with a screen, slides feet well, and then will grab a rebound and push the break or will be the one running the break as his team secures the rebound.

Overall, Shannon is a slasher who isn't afraid to step out and shoot the three. It felt like some of his drives and layups were forced but like I said if they weren't falling, he was going to end up at the free-throw line or sprinting back to make up for his mistake.
