

Nikola Durisic vs Crvena Zvezda February 11, 2023

Nikola Durisic did a good job at leveraging his shot selection, physicality, and playmaking against a veteran team while needing to work on consistent shot making and defensive discipline.

Durisic had very selective shot attempts against the aggressive defense he was playing against. He played more of a point guard and lead initiator role as opposed to the score first style he usually tends to play with in previous games. All his shots were within the flow of the offense, but it's interesting to note he appeared to have a different mindset than usual in this game. His ability to drive and finish has potential as he has great body control, good touch, and solid athleticism overall.

His jumpshot is fundamentally sound but needs work in hitting his looks consistently. His ball handling was solid in this game against a very aggressive defensive team. He does a great job at drawing fouls by leveraging his physical playstyle. Both his turnovers happened through careless passes. He has the right idea when playmaking but doesn't always execute it.

He found himself in foul trouble in this game. The majority of them were reach in fouls after getting beat by the player he was guarding, an interesting note was that Durisic was visibly frustrated every time he fouled an opposing player. Outside of these instances, he does a good job at playing aggressively, and using his size against.
