Rob Dillingham showed he has the ability to facilitate for his teammate's multiple times throughout the game. He made timely passes to the three when penetrating and finding the open man when the opposing team helped. He presented good passing abilities in the P&R situation finding the big rolling to the paint multiple times throughout the game. He made overhead passes and passes that split the defenders. He can also make flashy passes. On one possession he saw the center cut to the rim and stared at him to make a no-look pass to the corner that the teammate missed. He finished the game with 9 ast. He showcased that he could make jumpers in different ways by shooting on the catch, off the dribble, and on the move. He can use his handles to stop on the dime and shoot over defenders. He also constantly moves with and without the ball allowing him to be able to find the ball to get some shots off. He finishes the game finishing 2-2 from the 3 and making a midrange jumper as well. He showed he can finish at the rim as well. One layup attempt he went straight up against the big at the rim and layup with his right through contact. He did miss some open layups at the glass that I believe he could have made if he had more control. He also hustles for loose balls as well which is important.

He was engaged on defense throughout the entire game. He stayed tight to the ball through P&R and off-ball screens. He was guarding 94 feet some possession. He uses his hand to play the lanes and to disrupt passed from players he is guarding. He deflected a pass over the top of him that led to a transition finish. He had one possession where he was slow to run back but they were winning by 20 points at the time.

He showed he can be a solid point guard and not just a scorer when he has the ball in his hands. He can create for himself and his teammates throughout the game. He is able to make his open shots and finish at the rim when driving. He finishes the game with 12 pts and 9 ast.
