

Donovan Clingan vs Creighton 2/20/24 Film

Donovan Clingan exhibits the ability to be a threat in PNR situations. Clingan gets in a PNR with Tristen Newton, rolls to the rim, gets the ball and scores with a two-handed dunk. Clingan showed the ability to get out of the way to let his guard drive in the lane and get the ball for a dunk. In one play, Stays in the L short corner, gets the ball after a drive from his guard and scores with a two handed dunk.

Clingan displayed ability as a post defender. Something that stood out to me was how he built a wall in the paint and stole the ball from Kalkbrenner. Clingan showed the ability to be a rim protector as well, blocking Kalkbrenner's shots a couple of times. Something I would worry about is how he would handle PNR at the next level. He didn't hedge on screen, and it hurt him with a big man who can shoot from beyond the arc. In addition, he has a guard who can get into the lane.

One note-worthy offensive skill of Donovan Clingan is his ability to score around the basket, specifically in PNR situations. Defensively, he displayed strong post defense skills and was a rim protector, blocking shots. However, one area of improvement for Clingan would be his guarding of PNR situations, as he struggles with hedging on screens and this can be exploited at the next level.
